

Honey bee enthusiasts David Burns and Jon Zawislak will begin hosting a regular call-in radio talk show all about honey bees and current beekeeping issues. Our debut program will be Tuesday evening, October 1, at 7:00 pm (central time).

To listen from your computer or mobile device, simply go online to: <http://www.talkshoe.com/tc/129777> and click the button to listen live!

The success of this program will depend largely upon the support of our community of listeners. Those who wish to participate can call in and ask beekeeping questions. If you don't call in with questions, Jon and David will be left to ramble on and make a miserable attempt to be entertaining.

Here's how you can join in: Beginning around 6:50 p.m. central time on Tuesday, Dial (724) 444-7444. A voice recording will ask you to enter the "CALL ID" for our show, which is 129777, followed by the # sign. When asked to enter your pin, enter 1 followed by the # sign. At that point our engineer will chat with you and get you ready to ask us a question. If you'd like to ask a question, you can log in to our show up to 10 minutes prior to the 7:00 p.m. (central) broadcast time.

If you have (or want to create) a talkshoe.com ID, you can also follow the show online and with extra features that allow you to see who else is online and to send chat messages during the broadcast.

Again, participation is simple:

1. Dial: (724) 444-7444
2. Enter the Call ID: 129777 #
3. Enter: 1 # (or your PIN, if you have your own talkshoe.com ID)

If you just want to just listen go to: <http://www.talkshoe.com/tc/129777>
